TITLE: good old cockney knees up

Outline of Unrealised Potential

I would like to have an episode of the BBC soap opera "East Enders" made into a ballet. Screened at the normal time using the existing set, cast and plot line. I would have the musical score composed by Richard D James aka Aphex Twin and the choreography by the Flemish choreographer Anne Teresa de Keersmaeker from the dance company Rosas. I think the tone of the plot lines in this particular soap opera would lend itself to a broad range of possibilities in terms of transformation to movement. Following on from its success on screen I would then like the show to travel for one off performances on stage, firstly in London and then on to New York and Tokyo.
